Description

Late C19th Italian 'Grand Tour' bronze souvenir reduction, after the antique, of 'The Apollo Belvedere'. Well-cast bronze reduction statue of the iconic Greek god known as the 'Apollo Belvedere' or the 'Pythian Apollo'. Depicted in a contrapposto pose wearing his chlamys or cloak and strapped sandals, his arm outstretched holding his bow having just slain the mythical Python guarding the entrance to the sanctuary of Delphi, a quiver of arrows across his back. Fitted with a cast bronze 'modesty' fig-leaf. Raised on a circular base, presumably previously mounted upon a revolving base with a turning handle still present. Good consistent colour and patina, in excellent original condition with no damage or losses. H 13" W 9" D 4" Italy, probably Naples c.1890
