Description

An outstanding Victorian walnut pop-up davenport with a rare piano-style lifting top. Inside is the original tooled green leather adjustable writing surface, pen trays, ink compartment, and two small drawers that operate the hidden pop-up mechanism. The rising section offers three small drawers and four pigeonholes. To the right is a bank of four dovetailed drawers; to the left, matching faux drawers, all with original turned handles. The beautifully carved scroll supports stand on a plinth base with carved bun feet, and the walnut veneers continue around the back, allowing the piece to stand freely in a room. With wonderful colour, patina, and only minor age-related wear, this is a superb, functional example of Victorian craftsmanship — a striking addition to any study or office.
