Description

A Gorgeous Pair of Antique Edwardian Silver Plated Café Au Lait Pots with softly rounded bodies and elegant pouring spouts. Each pot is raised on four small feet, giving a poised, traditional table presence. The long black ebony turned handles are designed to stay cooler in the hand. The hinged lids are neatly fitted and topped with ebony finials that echo the handles for a cohesive look – circa 1905. * A matching pair of café au lait pots brings instant ceremony to a coffee service or these pieces also work well for hot chocolate and warmed milk. Measurements: Height: 7" (approx. 18cm) Diameter across top: 3 1/2" (approx. 9cm) Total weight: 775g In good condition – The silver plated finish shows only light surface wear consistent with age and gentle handling. The hinges are in full working order and the lids sit flat.
