Description

This stunning William IV chaise longue is constructed from rich rosewood, the show wood frame boasts a beautiful grain and warm, lustrous patina. The frame boasts finely carved details, including a gently scrolled arm and tulip-style turned legs. Upholstered in a tasteful striped fabric, the seat offers both comfort and visual interest, complementing the dark tones of the rosewood perfectly. The upholstery remains in overall good condition, with only few minor surface marks present—these are expected to lift easily with a light professional clean. The chaise is mounted on brass casters, allowing for easy movement. A wonderfully proportioned and desirable model, it combines decorative impact with practical comfort, making it an excellent addition to both period and eclectic interiors.
