Date of manufacture: 19th Century

Description

A charming decorative cricket table constructed using a 19th century two-part elm top with a later painted reclaimed pine base. Wonderfully proportioned, with a warm mellow colour throughout, the circular elm top displays beautiful grain and characterful age-related patina. The painted pine base, with its splayed legs and lower triangular undertier, gives the piece a classic country-house cricket table silhouette while remaining sturdy and highly usable. Although not a completely original period piece, it has been thoughtfully assembled from antique and reclaimed elements and works beautifully as a decorative side table, lamp table, or occasional table. A particularly versatile size for modern interiors. Dimensions: Height: 59 cm Diameter: 60 cm Condition: Good decorative condition with age-related wear, marks, knocks, and imperfections consistent with antique and reclaimed timber.
