Description

This Victorian gold heart pendant is the most beautiful rich high-carat colour with a gorgeous satiny finish. The heart contains a rose-cut diamond set into a crisply-incised star setting. Note this is a pendant and not a locket, it doesn't open. SIZE: 1.3 x 1.5cm, not including the bail. The diamond is approximately 1.8mm diameter. WEIGHT: 1.7g. MATERIALS: Diamond, 15-carat (625) gold. Fifteen-carat gold pieces are not overly common (in the UK only really used between 1854 and 1932) and this fineness was generally used in high quality pieces. HALLMARKS/STAMPS: Hallmarked for 15-carat gold, Chester 1897. CONDITION: The pendant is in very good antique condition with normal surface wear for a piece of its age. There are two very tiny dents on the back if you look very closely. ERA: Victorian, 1897.
