Description

Victorian Sapphire and Split Pearl Cluster Ring in 18ct Gold – Circa 1890 A beautifully delicate Victorian sapphire and split pearl cluster ring, crafted in rich 18ct yellow gold and dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1890. The ring centres on a vivid deep blue sapphire, full of life and colour, surrounded by a graceful halo of natural split pearls. The pearls display a soft creamy lustre which contrasts beautifully against the intense blue of the sapphire and the warm tones of the gold setting. The gemstones are mounted within an attractive castellated collet setting, a classic Victorian design detail that gives the ring wonderful texture and character when viewed from every angle. The low elegant profile allows the ring to sit beautifully on the hand, making it both charming and highly wearable. Refined, feminine and timeless, this lovely antique ring would make a wonderful engagement ring, anniversary gift or addition to a fine antique jewellery collection. Key Details Period: Late Victorian, circa 1890 Central stone: Natural sapphire Sapphire cut: Round cut Sapphire size: Approximately 4.5mm Sapphire colour: Deep vivid blue Surrounding stones: 9 natural s...
