Description

This antique 18th-century Georgian bobbin-turned writing table in oak is a rare and beautifully crafted piece, showcasing fine quality workmanship and timeless period design throughout. Very well made and sturdy in construction, the table features a single drawer to the upper section retaining its original handles and fittings, providing practical storage while adding authenticity and character. Raised on elegant bobbin-turned legs united by a supportive stretcher, the table displays the classic craftsmanship and decorative detailing associated with Georgian furniture. The oak boasts gorgeous natural grain and rich warm colour throughout, enhancing the beauty and charm of this highly desirable example. Compact yet practical in size, this attractive writing table is perfectly suited for use as a desk, occasional table, or statement piece within both traditional and contemporary interiors. Presented in good condition, this rare Georgian example would make a perfect addition to any home.
