Description

Pair of Antique William IV Mahogany Dining Chairs. A rare pair of William IV Mahogany chairs. We are delighted to offer this exceptional pair of William IV Mahogany dining chairs, dating to circa 1835. A classic example of 19th-century English cabinet making, these chairs are crafted from high-quality, dense Mahogany, showcasing a rich, deep grain pattern and a wonderfully warm tone across the curved top rails. The timber has been carefully prepared and hand-waxed in our workshop to preserve the authentic patina while achieving a beautifully clear, lustrous finish. The defining feature of this particular pair is the elegant turned and carved decoration to the front legs. Featuring delicate reeding and distinctive carved detailing just below the seat rail, these front legs transition smoothly down to traditional collared feet, adding an extra layer of sophisticated historical character to the classic William IV silhouette. The reverse of the chairs displays gracefully swept back legs that ensure excellent stability and strength. The drop-in seats have been newly and fully upholstered to a professional standard, finished in a striking contemporary botanical velvet feature...
