Description

A good late Victorian wing armchair of smaller but excellent proportions, upholstered in dark brown leather and in the early 18th century style, the top rail with scrolling crest to a buttoned back with well padded wings with studded edges, and with a generous seat with separate cushion and generous armrests with studded ends, on a stuffed base and raised on plain cabriole supports, English circa 1890. Seat dimensions: 20" deep by 19" wide. (51cm by 49cm) Condition: Overall very good, the chair is solid and robust and well put together, the leather is in very good condition with a few scuffs, fading and general wear consistent with age, but overall the leather is in good condition. Overall the chair has a great appearance with a confident stance and a superb rake to the back, excellent patina and country house look, and it is extremely comfortable to sit in. Care: Leather chair covers should ideally be polished with a clear shoe polish from time to time (once or twice a year is fine) to maintain the condition.
