Description

A nest of four late 19th century inlaid mahogany tables. The tops and edges are crossbanded in kingwood and have a short ebonised raised gallery, they are veneered in plum pudding mahogany with a centre oval panel with flame veneers which is strung with ebony and boxwood. The sides are shaped above turned supports united by concave rear stretchers, down to the feet which have ebonised line decoration. Excellent colour and patina and in good condition throughout, the measurements are of the top table. English Circa 1890.
