Description

A beautifully made elm ladder-back country chair, full of the warmth and character that only honest rural furniture can offer. The chair features six shaped back slats, each with a gentle wave profile, giving it that classic West Country / North Country vernacular look. The turned front legs, swept arms, and woven rush seat add to its authenticity and tactile appeal. The rush seat is tightly woven in the traditional pattern and sits well, offering both comfort and durability. The elm shows attractive grain and a mellow, time-softened colour that suits both period interiors and modern rustic schemes. This is the sort of chair that works beautifully in a farmhouse kitchen, hallway, reading corner, or as a single accent piece. Delivery can be arranged nationwide, please contact me for further details.
