Description

A substantial antique figured mahogany three-pillar extending dining table of classic rectangular form with softly rounded corners raised on three elegant reeded pedestal supports terminating in swept legs with original brass caps and castors. The top displays attractive, well-matched mahogany figuring with a rich, even tone and a well-developed patina. The table is designed with multiple original extension leaves, allowing it to extend to an impressive length and comfortably seat between sixteen and eighteen diners. The three-pillar base configuration provides excellent legroom, strength, and balance, ensuring stability even when fully extended. This is a refined and highly practical dining table, suitable for large-scale entertaining and it sits comfortably within both traditional interiors and grand contemporary spaces. Condition In good antique condition. The extensions fit well, the table is structurally sound throughout, and the original brass caps and castors remain intact. Dimensions Height: 72.5 cm (28.54 in) Width: 114.5 cm (45.08 in) Length without leaves: 270 cm (106.30 in) Length fully extended: 368 cm (144.88 in) Seats approximately 16–18 people. Dat...
