Description

A refined Regency mahogany Pembroke table, the finely veneered top featuring ebony and satinwood line inlay enclosing a wide mahogany crossbanded border and featuring a single deep frieze drawer running nearly the full length of the table. The leaves lift smoothly into place supported on original pivoting brackets, all raised on finely turned legs terminating in original brass cup castors. Very good antique condition with a pleasing patina, surface marks and historic wear appropriate to age. Structurally sound and ready to place. English, circa 1820.
