Description

This is a superb antique Edwardian coromandel cased three decanter George Betjemann's & Sons patent tantalus, with sterling silver mounts, with hallmarks for the maker George Betjemann's & Sons, London, dated 1907. Skillfully crafted in coromandel with a stylish locking bar, stamped 'Betjemann's Patent, 54461, London. It is fitted with three star cut crystal cuboid spirit decanters with matching bulbous stoppers each with a sterling silver label, engraved GIN WHISKY and BRANDY. The base is fitted with pierced sterling silver mounted corners, hallmarked London 1907, and fitted with a Betjemann's Bramah locking system, complete with the original key. It is a very decorative high quality piece which is very practical and would make a delightful gift. Condition: In excellent condition having been beautifully cleaned and wax polished in our workshops.
