Description

Dame Laura Knight, DBE, RA, RWS (1877–1970) | 'Rearing Horse' - A captivating and dynamic original pencil drawing by Dame Laura Knight, one of the most prominent and trailblazing British artists of the 20th century. This sketch, which features a rearing horse, beautifully captures the energy and movement that defined Knight's celebrated fascination with equestrian and circus subjects. Hand-signed by the artist in pencil, this piece offers an intimate look at her masterful draftsmanship and immediate, expressive line-work. Circa late 1920s / early 1930s. This work dates from the peak of Knight's celebrated circus and equestrian periods, capturing the intense, immediate draftsmanship that defined her interwar output. Condition: Sketch - Very good original condition. Frame - Housed in a contemporary frame and in good condition. There is just one minor scratch to note on the front of the frame, which is visible in the provided photographs. Frame: Height 41cm x Width 32cm. Picture: Height 28cm x Width 19cm. Dame Laura Knight was an artist of immense courage and boundless energy, whose love for the human figure and the power of the animal form broke traditional barriers."...
