Description

A charming and increasingly scarce antique oak bureau bookcase, manufactured by C.W.S. Ltd Cabinet Works, Pelaw-on-Tyne, retaining its original maker's plaque and original working key with tassel. This elegant piece combines a glazed bookcase, fall-front writing bureau, and chest of drawers within a compact footprint. The upper section features a leaded glazed door enclosing adjustable shelving, ideal for books, collectables, or decorative displays. Below, the lockable bureau opens to reveal a practical writing surface and fitted interior compartments, while three drawers provide additional storage. The original maker's badge is a particularly desirable feature, confirming its provenance and authenticity. About the Maker C.W.S. Ltd (Co-operative Wholesale Society) Cabinet Works, Pelaw-on-Tyne was one of Britain's largest furniture manufacturers during the late Victorian and early 20th-century period. The Pelaw works in Gateshead produced high-quality oak and walnut furniture, supplying Co-operative stores throughout the United Kingdom. Furniture bearing the original Pelaw-on-Tyne maker's plaque is increasingly sought after by collectors due to its craftsmanship, durab...
