Description

A superb antique yew wood Windsor armchair of exceptional colour and character. This charming country house chair features a traditional hoop back with turned spindle supports and an attractive pierced central splat. The shaped arm supports and turned legs are united by a crinoline stretcher giving both strength and elegance. The beautifully figured solid yew seat is undoubtedly the highlight of the piece displaying outstanding grain patterns, burrs, knots and rich natural colour that have developed over generations. The continuous arm rail also exhibits wonderful figuring and patination. Windsor chairs were originally designed as practical everyday seating valued for their comfort, durability and lightweight construction. Today they remain among the most sought-after forms of English country furniture and are equally suited to traditional and contemporary interiors. A particularly decorative example with excellent proportions and remarkable timber throughout. Condition Report Presented in good antique condition with age-related wear, marks and patination consistent with age and use. A solid, sturdy and usable chair with wonderful colour and character.
