Description

Pair of 19th Century French Marble Urn Lamps A magnificent pair of antique French table lamps, converted from 19th-century carved green marble urns. These elegant pieces showcase the refined craftsmanship of the period, featuring richly veined dark marble bodies, classical urn forms, and finely detailed gilt bronze mounts with ornamental goats heads and decorative garlands. The urns have been sympathetically transformed into lamps while preserving their original architectural character. Each lamp is topped with a warm amber silk-effect shade with scalloped edging and traditional fringe trim, creating a soft, atmospheric glow. A sophisticated example of French decorative arts, these lamps would make a striking addition to a period interior, adding elegance and historical charm to a drawing room, library, or grand bedroom. PAT tested. Some chipping to the marble at top of urns, see pictures, but doesn't impact the functionality or look of these lamps.
