Description

A fine 19th century mahogany bar back child's commode chair, showcasing elegant proportions and classic Georgian-inspired design. Crafted in solid mahogany, this charming miniature chair features a shaped bar back and refined turned supports, reflecting quality period craftsmanship. Originally designed as a practical child's commode chair, it retains its original form and character while now serving as a highly decorative and collectible antique. The rich mahogany displays a deep, warm patina developed over time, enhancing its visual appeal. A versatile piece, ideal for collectors of early furniture, country house interiors, or as a distinctive decorative accent in both traditional and eclectic settings. It also works well as a display or conversation piece due to its unusual and historic function. The chair shows age-related wear, marks, and patina consistent with use and age, all of which add to its authentic 19th century character. Dimensions: H: 56.5 cm W: 35.5 cm A rare and characterful antique child's chair, combining practicality, charm, and historical interest.
