Description

A handsome mid-Victorian mahogany double wardrobe, dating from around 1860–1880, featuring attractive figured mahogany panels and a substantial moulded cornice. The interior is fitted with a full-length hanging section to one side and a useful arrangement of shelves and drawers to the other, offering excellent storage. The wardrobe dismantles into two main carcass sections, plus the separate plinth and cornice, making it far easier to move and install than a one-piece wardrobe. It retains its original character and has a rich warm mahogany colour with pleasing grain throughout. A practical and decorative Victorian wardrobe, ideal for period or contemporary interiors alike. Features: * Mid Victorian period (c.1860–1880) * Figured mahogany construction * Double-door design * Hanging compartment and shelved section * Internal drawers * Moulded cornice and plinth * Dismantles into two main sections, plus plinth and cornice, for transport and access * Good antique condition with age-related wear consistent with use and age
