Description

This is a beautiful antique George II flame mahogany and floral marquetry secretaire chest of drawers, circa 1760 in date. The chest is fitted with brass handles, the drawer bears the impressed stamp of the 18th-century renowned cabinet maker, 'R. Andrews'. The top drawer includes a secretaire with drawers, a cupboard, pigeonholes in mahogany and satinwood, and an inset gold tooled green leather writing surface. The chest has a secretaire drawer over a pair of half-width drawers, over two capacious full-width drawers that all feature beautiful inlaid floral marquetry decoration of various specimen woods. The chest is raised on a sturdy plinth base and is complete with working locks and an original key. This delicious piece of craftsmanship could serve any purpose, from the focal point of an antiques collection to a remarkable addition to any room in your home.
