Description

A striking Egyptian Revival clock, circa 1860 features a finely crafted black marble case engraved with Egyptian hieroglyphics. Richly decorated with impressive bronze Egyptian-inspired mounts and surmounted by a bronze figure of Lamassu, it is a highly decorative and evocative example of Victorian fascination with the ancient world. Accompanied by its original pair of matching garnitures, the garniture set displays the same distinctive Egyptian Revival styling and complements the clock beautifully, creating an impressive mantelpiece ensemble. The quality of craftsmanship and attention to detail throughout make this an exceptional decorative timepiece. The combination of polished black marble, intricate engraving, and finely cast bronze elements creates a dramatic and elegant presence, suitable for both traditional and contemporary interiors. Presented in good original condition, with some historic repairs to one of the garnitures consistent with age and use. The clock movement has been professionally serviced, it is in good, working condition. Dating from the 1860s, the clock represents an early and desirable example of the Egyptian Revival style, which gained popu...
