

SA1221048

Imari porcelain charger, Arita,
Japan, c. 1700.

Price

Sold

Item Reference: SA1221048

Date of manufacture: 18th Century

Description

A large Imari porcelain deep dish, Arita, Japan, c. 1700. The dish hand painted to the centre with a large panel containing a flowering plant emerging from a jardiniere. The cavetto, with panels of bijin, on a red cell ground, divided by further panels of flowering plants. Having a shaped rim, painted with flowerheads, and gilt floral scroll. The reverse with flowering sprigs, above a continuous Ruyi head device, and whorl decoration to the footrim. Several pronounced 'spurs' to the underside. Diameter – 38 cm, 15". Depth – 8 cm, 3 1/8". Condition – Some typical age related wear to the gilt. Firing craze lines to the body. No damage. No restoration.

Seller Details

Philip Carrol Antiques

North Yorkshire United Kingdom

Tel: 07860 525 579

International Tel: +44 7860 525 579