Description

This fabulous pair of mini saddle-bags - 'khorjin' in Persian - was woven by Shahsevan nomads during the third quarter of the nineteenth century in the Moghan region of Azerbaijan. These magnificent saddle-bags are finely woven in soumak technique on both bag faces with the back in madder-red, plain-weave technique. The lappits and woollen loops are intact and the bag is complete and in excellent condition. This is a rare and very collectable pair of saddle-bags. Size: 67cm x 28cm (2' 2" x 11").
