Description

Victorian Mahogany Kidney Shaped Desk Item Code: S27-1139 A decorative Victorian mahogany kidney shaped desk, of elegant serpentine form and raised on cabriole legs with carved claw-and-ball feet. The desk features a shaped inset leather writing surface above an arrangement of fitted drawers, with curved pedestal ends and attractive panelled detail to the reverse. The front is fitted with a central drawer above the kneehole, flanked by banks of four drawers to each side, all with shaped moulded fronts and ornate brass handles. The curved end sections add to the quality and presence of the piece, while the reverse is also finished with panelled detail, allowing the desk to stand freely within a room. The inset leather writing surface shows visible age, wear, marks and discolouration, giving the piece an authentic antique character. The mahogany has a rich polished colour with decorative moulded detail throughout. A fine and highly decorative antique desk, well suited for use in a study, office, library or traditional interior. Key Features: Victorian mahogany kidney shaped desk Elegant serpentine shaped form Inset leather writing surface Central kneehole drawer Four drawer...
