Description

A beautifully crafted 19th-century mahogany console table. The richly figured mahogany frame supports a stunning marble top, while an impressive mirror back is held by graceful C-scroll supports, adding both architectural presence and decorative charm. The table features a distinctive concave-front design, creating a refined silhouette that enhances its visual appeal. Raised on traditional bun feet, it combines strength, balance, and classic proportions. The warm tones of the mahogany contrast beautifully with the cool marble surface, making this piece a striking addition to a hallway, drawing room, or entrance hall. A fine example of 19th-century furniture design, this console table offers both practicality and sophistication, serving as an elegant focal point in any period or contemporary interior.
