Description

1950s Hamilton pocket watch. The watch has a Swiss hand-winding movement, calibre 669 made for Hamilton by Cortebert, which is working nicely. When civilian production was halted during WWII, Hamilton later restarted production but because they lacked a suitable in-house movement, they contracted the Swiss manufacturer Cortebert to produce the Grade 669 movement for these post-war pieces. The watch measures 51mm diameter excluding the winding stem and the loop. The case is stainless steel and it is in good condition, just a little unevenness to the screw-on case back. The inside of the case back is signed with the Hamilton Watch Co name. The glass lens is in good condition. The signed dial looks good to the naked eye... there are a couple of short very faint hairlines if viewed through a jeweller's loupe. The watch comes in a new presentation box.
