Description

A magnificent late Victorian mahogany chiffonier cabinet, dating to circa 1890, showcasing elegant proportions, superb craftsmanship, and beautifully executed decorative inlay throughout. Constructed from richly figured solid mahogany and fine mahogany veneers, this impressive two-piece cabinet epitomises the refined furniture produced during the late Victorian period. The architectural upper section is crowned by a graceful broken swan-neck style pediment centred with a carved shell motif, while delicate inlaid decoration adorns the pediment, friezes, doors, and lower cupboard, providing exceptional visual interest from every angle. The striking central bevelled mirror is framed within an elegant shaped surround, flanked by beautifully inlaid panels and supported above an attractive arrangement of glazed display compartments. The spacious serving surface below makes the piece equally practical as a dining room sideboard or statement display cabinet. The lower section offers generous storage behind glazed side cupboards and a large central cupboard, ideal for china, glassware, silver, or household items. Elegant turned supports, finely detailed mouldings, and slender t...
