Description

A substantial Victorian solid walnut extending dining table with two additional leaves, raised on turned and reeded legs with castors. Well made and generously sized, this is a practical antique dining table with attractive walnut figuring across the top and a warm, rich colour. The extension design allows it to be used at a more compact size or opened out to seat a larger group, making it ideal for a dining room, kitchen, country house interior or statement period setting. A handsome and usable antique table with good presence. Condition Good antique condition with age-related wear. There are a few dry patches to the polish on the top, along with general surface wear, light marks consistent with age and use. The moulded edge has some small chips and scuffs, and there is light wear to the legs and frame. Overall, it presents well and remains a solid, usable table. Approximate Dimensions Length closed: 148 cm Length extended: 240 cm Width: 119.5 cm Height: 73.5 cm Please be aware that this item does show signs of use, which is to be expected considering its age. These signs of wear add authenticity to the item. We recommend carefully studying the pictures ...
