Description

Antique 20th century fine quality wardrobe in solid oak, exceptionally well made and of the finest quality. A substantial and highly desirable example, featuring a large upper storage compartment fitted with two internal shelves, offering generous and versatile storage space. The lower section incorporates two working drawers with two faux drawer fronts above, creating a beautifully balanced design. Retaining all of its original handles and fittings, this impressive wardrobe stands on sturdy square legs and showcases the outstanding craftsmanship and quality associated with fine period furniture. Constructed from solid oak throughout, it boasts gorgeous grain and rich colour with exceptional character and warmth. The impressive proportions, quality of construction and timeless design make this a particularly special and increasingly rare find. The wardrobe is currently fitted with shelving rather than a hanging rail or coat hooks; however, these can be added very easily should hanging space be preferred. For ease of transport and installation, the wardrobe separates into two sections. Presented in great condition, displaying beautiful grain, colour and craftsmanship thr...
