Description

An elegant and highly decorative antique sterling silver and crystal bowl by Tiffany & Co., dating to around 1910. Crafted by one of America's most celebrated silversmiths and jewellers, this exceptional piece beautifully combines fine crystal with expertly worked sterling silver, making it a striking example of early 20th century craftsmanship. The substantial crystal bowl features finely executed intaglio-cut segmented panels, richly decorated with chrysanthemum flowers, leaves, and trailing stems that gracefully graduate towards the centre. Encircling the rim is a broad sterling silver mount with an intricate pierced blackberry motif, adding texture, depth, and a distinctly Art Nouveau inspired elegance. Fully hallmarked beneath the rim with the Tiffany & Co. name and sterling silver marks, this bowl is an authentic and highly collectable example of the firm's renowned silverwork. Presented in very good antique condition, it displays only light, age related surface scratches to the base, consistent with careful use over more than a century.
