Description

18th Century Oregon Pine Coffer — Circa 1780 A fine 18th century coffer in Oregon pine with fielded panels and original brass hardware — elegant, practical, and full of Georgian character. Full Description A handsome Georgian coffer dating from circa 1780, crafted from Oregon pine with fielded panels and original brass hardware and lock. The design reflects the restrained elegance of late 18th century English furniture, combining solid construction with refined proportions. The timber has developed a rich, warm patina, highlighting the grain and depth of the pine. The original brass fittings and lock remain intact, adding authenticity and charm. This coffer offers both decorative appeal and practical storage — ideal for a hallway, bedroom, or living space.
