Description

An Exceptionally Fine Pair of Regency Period Brass Inlaid Side Cabinets, Attributed to Louis Constantin Le Gaigneur English c.1815-20 Provenance Sold as Property of a Lady, Christie's 19th of September 2002, for £53,775 This fine pair of pier or side cabinets were made c.1815-20 in the high regency fashion with intricate Boulle-work inlay of brass set into fine rosewood veneers. The cabinets each have replaced marble tops which sit upon a leafy giltwood moulding, beneath the moulding is a wide frieze with contra-partie inlay of a central anthemion flanked by scrolling detailing. The motif is repeated on the sides of the piece on a slightly smaller scale. There is then a further giltwood moulding separating the frieze from the doors. The doors utilise versions of the same motifs from the frieze which run around the central silk panelled doors with fine gilt brass grills with central flower heads. Either side of the doors are grand scrolling corbels with parcel gilt highlights and floral paterae on the sides. The sides of each cabinet are also finely inlaid in brass and the cabinets stand proudly on a plinth base. The cabinets are part of a small group of pieces wit...
