Description

Antique French Gilt Dressing Mirror, 19th Century A handsome 19th-century French gilt wall mirror with richly carved frame and heavily foxed bevelled plate — simple, elegant, and full of character. Full Description A fine antique French dressing mirror dating to the 19th century, featuring a beautifully carved gilt frame with dark, mellow gilding and decorative foliate detail. The mirror plate is original, bevelled, and attractively foxed, giving a soft, atmospheric reflection that speaks to its age and authenticity. Fully restored and ready to hang, this piece combines understated elegance with genuine antique charm. Its tall, narrow proportions make it ideal for use as a dressing mirror or as a decorative statement in a hallway or bedroom. Details Period: 19th century Origin: France Material: Gilt wood and glass Dimensions: H 151 cm | W 57 cm | D 4 cm Condition: Fully restored; mirror plate heavily foxed with age; frame in excellent antique condition Provenance: French private collection Styling Notes Perfect for adding height and light to a room. The foxed plate and dark gilding lend a timeless, romantic quality that suits both traditional and contemporary inter...
