Description

A charming antique 15ct gold heart brooch dating from the early 20th century, beautifully crafted with a heart shaped centre pavé set with lustrous natural seed pearls and vibrant green garnets. The heart is flanked by delicate pearl set trefoil motifs, creating a wonderfully romantic and feminine design. Adding to its appeal, the heart opens as a small locket compartment, making this piece both decorative and sentimental. Crafted in rich 15ct gold and stamped 15CT, it is a lovely example of antique jewellery from the pre-1932 period. The brooch remains in excellent antique condition with light age related wear consistent with its age. The pearls display a lovely lustre, the green garnets retain good colour, and the locket heart opens and closes securely. Presented in excellent antique condition, this elegant brooch would make a wonderful addition to any antique jewellery collection or a thoughtful gift for a loved one.
