Description

An exceptional and highly decorative antique Edwardian salon suite dating to circa 1900, comprising a beautifully matched settee, two armchairs and four single chairs, all crafted from rich mahogany with satinwood crossbanding and exquisite marquetry inlaid decoration. The suite displays outstanding craftsmanship throughout, with each chair featuring an elegant pierced splat back adorned with intricate scrolling carvings and finely executed satinwood inlays. The flowing Art Nouveau influenced design combines graceful curves with delicate detailing, creating a suite of remarkable visual impact from every angle. The matching settee mirrors the design of the chairs perfectly, providing a rare and highly desirable complete suite suitable for a grand reception room, drawing room, country house, boutique hotel or luxury interior project. Beyond its decorative appeal, this is a genuine investment-quality collection. Complete matched suites of this calibre and originality are becoming increasingly difficult to source, particularly examples retaining their cohesive design and elegant proportions. Such pieces continue to attract collectors, interior designers and discerning home...
