Description

Hans Herrmann (1858–1942) – Original Watercolour Painting, c.1900 An exceptional original watercolour by renowned German painter Hans Herrmann (1858–1942), one of Europe's foremost landscape and genre artists. The painting is signed, executed on paper, laid down on canvas circa 1900, and presented in its original exhibition frame. Herrmann was particularly celebrated for his atmospheric depictions of the Netherlands, capturing everyday rural life and landscapes with remarkable sensitivity and technical skill. ## About the Artist Johann Emil Rudolf Herrmann, better known as Hans Herrmann, studied at the Prussian Academy of Arts under Otto Knille, Karl Gussow, and Christian Wilberg before continuing his landscape studies with Eugen Dückert at the Kunstakademie Düsseldorf between 1879 and 1882. His artistic development was enriched through regular study trips to France, Italy, and the Netherlands, where he attended George Hitchcock's renowned Art Summer School. He established his own studio in 1883 and returned to Holland almost every year from 1886 onwards, producing many of the scenes for which he is best known. Alongside Max Liebermann and Walter Leistikow, Her...
