Description

An ornate spelter and decorative glass Epergne dating from around the early part of the 20thC. It stands on a round spelter base with four little claw feet. It measures 38.5cm in height, the base is approximately 16cm at the widest part, and the glass top measures 18.5cm in height with a 13.5cm in diameter open top. The glass has a swirl design following the shape of the glass to the top with bursts of star shapes higher up. There is a surface scratch just under three of the flowers. It doesn't go through to the other side and is barely visible. Postage and packing is included in the price for the UK mainland deliveries, and for outside areas or delivery abroad please contact us for a quote. Thank you.
