Description

An early 20th century table lamp made by Royal Worcester, the raised bulbholder over a wide copper plate covering a loaded porcelain urn vase with parian finish in a dusty peach colour under an everted gilt rim and hand decorated with sprays of leaves and ferns all with gilt highlights, over a capstan support on a spreading base with a broad gilt band, on a turned wooden socle. English, signed to the underside but concealed by the socle, Royal Worcester, circa 1910, rewired. Condition: Overall very good, the lamp is in very good condition and appears to have been made for this purpose (ie it is not a conversion), it has been rewired using a new safety bulbholder, braided flex and a new plug fitted with a 3amp fuse.
