Description

Pair of late 19th-century table lamps in gilt brass and cut glass crystal. The original gilt finish has been left with its aged patina, which adds to their character. Each lamp has a white candle tube with a candle holder above a central section decorated with flowers, glass drips and spikes. The lower section is decorated with three applied cherubs, and the base is decorated with C-scrolls, flowers and leaves. The lamps are fitted with switched B22 (large bayonet) bulb holders and come complete with the shades. The height of each lamp without the bulb or shade is 29 cm. The overall height with the shade is 41 cm. The shades measure 13 cm high, 14 cm across the bottom and 9 cm across the top. The base of each lamp measures 9 cm across. Shades included. sku 3992
