Description

A timeless piece of vintage British silver, this beautiful sterling silver buckle bangle dates to 1960 and showcases the elegant craftsmanship of the era. The front is richly hand engraved with an intricate scrolling botanical design, while the reverse has been left smooth and highly polished, creating a striking contrast that highlights the decorative buckle motif. Designed in the classic belt and buckle style, long associated with love, loyalty and enduring friendship, this substantial bangle is both stylish and symbolic. The decorative buckle measures 26mm wide, tapering to a comfortable 19mm band, and is fitted with a secure snap-in clasp and traditional safety chain for added peace of mind. Professionally cleaned and polished in our workshop, this vintage bangle is presented in excellent condition and is ready to wear or gift. As expected with a cherished piece of this age, there are four tiny, shallow dints to the plain reverse, which are only noticeable on close inspection and do not detract from its appearance when worn. A wonderful addition to any vintage jewellery collection, it is equally suited to everyday elegance or special occasions. Details Metal: Sterling...
