Description

A Fine French 1940s Parchment-Covered Cabinet, Firmly Attributed to Maurice Jallot French circa 1940 The cabinet of broadly rectangular form with a shaped lower apron adding significant visual interest. The cabinet covered in parchment which has been embossed creating a gilt diamond trellis pattern across the front. In the centre is a bronze faun's head mount of extremely large and eye-catching scale which acts both as a focal point for the design and the handle for the doors. The cabinet stands on four long, turned and tapering sycamore legs with gilt collars and toupie feet mounts in gilt bronze. This rather extraordinary cabinet can be firmly attributed to the designer Maurice Jallot. A coffee table by Jallot featuring these same, highly distinctive, legs was sold by Phillips in New York on the 24th of May 2005. Additionally, a cabinet of similar form to the present piece but with simplified decoration was sold at Palm Beach Modern Auctions on the 21st of November 2015. This cabinet was also covered in parchment but has simpler handles rather than the faun's head mount. It does, however, employ precisely the same legs as on the present piece and provides further e...
