Description

Antique 20th century Gothic style side table in oak, a beautifully crafted piece displaying the bold character and intricate detailing associated with the Gothic Revival style. Very well made and of good quality, it is richly decorated throughout with an array of finely carved motifs that give the table a distinctive and impressive appearance. The table features an attractive brown leatherette top, providing a practical and durable surface while complementing the warmth of the oak below. It stands on elegant barley twist legs united by a sturdy supporting stretcher, creating a well-balanced design with excellent strength and stability. Displaying gorgeous oak grain and rich colour throughout, this highly decorative table is full of charm and period character. The combination of quality craftsmanship, striking carved decoration and traditional Gothic styling makes it a particularly desirable example that will suit a variety of interiors. Presented in good condition, this handsome Gothic style side table offers both practicality and timeless appeal. Whether used as a lamp table, occasional table or statement piece, it would make a wonderful addition to any home. Product ...
