Description

DESCRIPTION An exceptional Queen Anne walnut hanging corner cupboard dating from the early 18th century, retaining its original bevelled mirror plate, candle slide, lock and key. Designed to fit neatly into the corner of a room, it features an architectural moulded and arched cornice above a single arched mirrored door opening to reveal three fixed shelves. The cupboard is veneered in well-figured walnut with attractive colour and patination developed over more than three centuries. The original mirror plate, with its characteristic age-related foxing, enhances both its decorative appeal and historical authenticity. Beneath the door is a rare and desirable pull-out candle slide, allowing the mirror to be illuminated when in use. Early hanging corner cupboards of this quality are becoming increasingly difficult to find, particularly examples retaining their original mirror, working lock and key, and candle slide. It is an elegant and highly decorative piece of English furniture, equally suited to a period interior or as a statement piece in a contemporary setting. DIMENSIONS Height: 104cm Width: 64cm Depth: 34cm CONDITION There are the expected marks, scratches and sma...
