Description

George III Mahogany Bachelor's Chest with Original Brushing Slide Bring timeless Georgian elegance into your home with this George III mahogany bachelor's chest, a beautifully proportioned late 18th-century antique crafted from richly figured solid mahogany. Featuring an original pull-out brushing slide, this exceptional chest combines period craftsmanship with practical storage, making it ideal for both traditional and modern interiors. Originally designed for the Georgian gentleman, the brushing slide provided a convenient surface for laying out wigs, hats, brushes and clothing while dressing. Before dressing tables became common, it also served as a practical space for folding garments or writing letters, making the bachelor's chest one of the most versatile pieces of Georgian furniture. The chest features two short over three long graduated drawers, fitted with attractive brass swan-neck handles and finished with a moulded top and elegant bracket feet. The beautifully aged mahogany has developed a rich patina over more than 200 years, giving the piece warmth, depth and character that only genuine antiques can offer. Perfect in a country home bedroom, this bachelor's c...
