Description

An early 20th century mantel clock timepiece, the flat top with moulded edge over a line of carved ebonised leaves, with a burr walnut front and sides with turned ebonised columns to the corners over a shallow plinth carved with ebonised leaf and dart moulding, raised on brass bracket feet, and with a brass bezel and convex glass over a silvered dial with Arabic numerals, outer minute track with quarter markers, plain blued steel hands and a French eight day timepiece movement, retailed by Walker and Hall, circa 1910. Condition: Excellent, the clock is in very good condition with no damage or repairs to the case, the movement has been fully serviced and overhauled and is in good working order. Overall the clock has a very stylish appearance and pleasing contrast between the burr walnut and ebonised details.
