Description

A truly beautiful antique diamond cluster ring dating to around 1910, showcasing the timeless elegance of the Edwardian era. Crafted in rich 18ct yellow gold with a platinum setting, this exquisite piece features a sparkling cluster of old cut diamonds arranged in a classic daisy design. The floral cluster is centred with a bright old cut diamond, surrounded by a halo of matching old cut diamonds, all individually claw set within the platinum head to maximise their brilliance. Diamond-set shoulders add further sparkle and refinement, perfectly complementing the elegant proportions of this early 20th-century design. Stamped 18CT PLAT, confirming its 18ct gold shank and platinum setting, this ring has an estimated total diamond weight of approximately 0.50 carats. It has been professionally cleaned and polished in our workshop and is presented in excellent antique condition, ready to be treasured for generations to come. A romantic and timeless piece, perfect as an engagement ring, anniversary gift, or for anyone who appreciates genuine antique jewellery and the unique charm of old cut diamonds. Details
