Description

DESCRIPTION This is an attractive mid eighteenth-century Georgian mahogany hanging corner cupboard, dating from around 1750. Constructed in richly coloured mahogany, the cupboard features a moulded cornice above a single arched fielded panel door, flanked by finely fluted canted corners terminating in carved spiral roundels. The interior is fitted with shaped corner shelves, providing useful storage while displaying the practical craftsmanship associated with the Georgian period. The restrained architectural design and pleasing proportions make this an exceptionally versatile piece, equally suited to a period interior or as a characterful accent within a more contemporary setting. The warm mahogany colour and honest patina acquired over nearly three centuries further enhance its decorative appeal. A handsome and increasingly difficult-to-find Georgian hanging corner cupboard of practical size. DIMENSIONS Height: 93 cm Width: 66 cm Depth: 38 cm CONDITION Presented in good antique condition. There are the expected marks, knocks and surface scratches consistent with age and nearly three centuries of use, together with light wear commensurate with its age. The cupboard re...
