Description

DESCRIPTION A handsome George III oak hanging corner cupboard dating from circa 1780, of pleasing proportions and with an excellent rich colour and patina. The cupboard is constructed in oak with a moulded cornice above a single fielded arched panel door enclosing shaped internal shelves. The door opens smoothly, the cupboard retaining the honest wear and character expected from a well-preserved eighteenth-century country piece. With its compact proportions and honest patina, it makes an attractive and practical cupboard for a wide variety of interiors. DIMENSIONS Height: 94 cm Width: 77 cm Depth: 41 cm CONDITION Presented in good antique condition commensurate with age. The oak has developed a beautiful deep colour and patina with the expected light marks, knocks and wear acquired over more than two centuries. There is no working key, but a suitable key is supplied to pull open the door, which remains securely closed under its own weight. Structurally sound and ready for use. As with all antique and vintage furniture, this piece has been used and enjoyed over many years and should be expected to show signs of age and use. We aim to describe any significant faults, repa...
